Councillor among the great and good on Queen's new year roll call

A Kingston councillor, a scout leader and a prison guard are among the people recognised in the Queen's New Year's Honours list.

In a roll call dominated by Olympic and Paralympic athletes, several public-spirited individuals from the borough joined the likes of Mo Farah, Jessica Ennis and Andy Murray in being recognised for their own outstanding achievements.

by ROSS LOGAN
ross.logan@london.newsquest.co.uk

Kingston resident Joanna Haigh, professor of atmospheric physics at Imperial College London, was given a CBE.

She said: "I was delighted to be given this honour.

"It was a complete surprise when I came home after a particularly long day at work and found the letter – I still have no idea who nominated me."

Kingston councillor David Fraser was made an MBE for services to health and the community.

Kingston resident Tony Boden, a prison officer at Feltham Young Offenders Institute, was made an MBE, for voluntary services to HM prisons and young people.

Former Kingston Labour councillor Doug Reynolds was also made an MBE, for services to the community.

Elsewhere Bob Bushell, district president of the Royal Kingston Scout Group, was given a British Empire Medal.

The ultimate Christmas gift

by ROSS LOGAN
rlogan@london.newsquest.co.uk

Christmas Day delivered more than just presents and turkey for several new parents this year.

A total of 16 babies arrived at Kingston Hospital on December 25, with the majority being boys.

Among those celebrating were Surbiton couple Glen Hope and Amy Evans.

Their first child, a boy, arrived at 10.49am, weighing seven pounds and nine ounces.

The couple are still deciding what to call their newborn son, but Glen, from South Bank, joked: "Some of my friends have already been saying there's a little more Hope in the world this Christmas.

"It was a tough night, but in the end it was worth it.

"It is true what they say – the hard work really begins now."

Another Surbiton couple, Carli and Mark Minchin, celebrated the birth of their second son, Joseph Bastiaan, who arrived at 11.05am weighing precisely 7lb.

Mark said: "It was a great Christmas present.

"We had to put Christmas Day on hold this year, and I don't think it will ever be quite the same again.

"And with a name like that and a birthday like that we are hoping he will get a part in the school nativity play every year."

Ella Heyward-White and husband Gareth celebrated the birth of their second child, Albert, who arrived at 10.15am at Kingston Hospital, weighing seven pounds 13 ounces.

Ella, from Down Road, Teddington, said: "Everyone is over the moon. He's a happy chappy. He came at quarter past 10 and I was out of hospital the same day. I still got home for Christmas dinner."

A Kingston Hospital spokeswoman said: "Congratulations to all of the proud parents whose babies were born here at Kingston Hospital and who got an extra special gift this Christmas.

"It was a very busy day for the maternity department and a big thank you to all our staff working on the unit."

A great Christmas present: Carli and Mark Minchin celebrated the birth of their second son, Joseph KT72809

'Humbled and surprised'

Coun Fraser, 85, is currently Kingston's longest-serving councillor, having first been elected in 1984 and is chairman of the New Malden branch of Arthritis Care, and an executive member of the Kingston Association for the Blind.

He said: "I am humbled and surprised by this honour as I have worked for more than 40 years with some amazing workers and health care professionals, and in my early career I used them as role models."

Mr Boden, 48, has been a prison guard for nine years, but also volunteers as a school speaker as part of the Your Life, Your Choice programme, giving young students an insight into life behind bars.

Mr Boden said: "It's sinking in slowly. It's absolutely awesome and I accept it with open arms, but I would like to use it for the benefit of Your Life Your Choice.

"It's about being proactive instead of reactive. I find it rewarding.

Honoured: Doug Reynolds

"It's a long day but it makes up for it when hopefully someone stops and thinks about what they're doing."

Mr Reynolds, 92, is a former Labour councillor and is currently chairman of Kingston Pensioners' Forum.

He said: "I'm very pleased. It is recognition for the sort of work I enjoy doing."

Bradley Wiggins was given a knighthood for his endeavours this summer which saw him propelled through through Kingston by a wall of sound.

Stuck: Over a fountain; Didn't expect that, right

Pics: Jim Banks

Miranda's market place soaking

If you were watching television on Boxing Day you might have seen BBC comedian Miranda Hart in yet another embarrassing situation.

Her brush with the water fountains in Kingston's Market Place helped the sitcom win the ratings battle, drawing 10m viewers.

These pictures, taken by Jim Banks in August, show the hard work behind the show.

Miranda's love interest, played by Tom Ellis, was seen hanging around the Market House while Miranda tried to retrieve her trapped shoe heel, before the inevitable soaking.

And from the reaction on social network Twitter, she is not the first to be afflicted by the fountains.

Jonathan Pitman tweeted: "Watching Miranda, funny thing is I've been caught out by the same fountains in Kingston."

A user calling themselves doctors_bowtie said: "OMG Miranda was in Kingston. I have walked where Miranda has walked."

Plans to close police counter are revealed

by ROSS LOGAN

ross.logan@london.newsquest.co.uk

The Metropolitan Police has drawn up plans to close the front counter at New Malden police office, according to a leaked report.

The front counter, based at CI Tower in St George's Square, is staffed entirely by volunteers and could be closed under draft plans to save £500m from Metropolitan Police's annual budget.

The confidential report, which was leaked to the Evening Standard, detailed plans to close almost half of London's front desks, slashing the number of counters from 133 to 71.

The Kingston Guardian first reported the threat in February when borough commander Martin Greenslade was unable to give assurances it would stay open.

The cuts would leave one 24-hour counter in each of the capital's 32 boroughs with the exception of Westminster, which would have two.

There is no suggestion of axing the 24-hour counter at Kingston police station or the Millbank counter in Surbiton – open during usual office hours.

The plans, which have yet to go to consultation, would also see a large expansion of police contact points in supermarkets, libraries and coffee shops.

Police office: CI Tower

London Assembly member Tony Arbour said: "New Malden was the first volunteer desk in the Met. I would be surprised if that went without any discussion or fuss.

"With these reports, when a committee is asked to make recommendations they are always given the extremes."

A Metropolitan Police spokeswoman said the force would create other contact points allowing it to see more victims of crime near their home and workplace.

January 2012 March

That was the year 2012

It's been quite a year for Kingston residents. Here are the big stories of 2012 as we prepare for 2013

January

❑ A Latin American gang of burglars was jailed after being caught red-handed by plain clothes police officers.

Leidy Lopez Vera, Jherson Rodrigues-Escobar and Jair Flores Cervantes, were handed prison sentences after being caught robbing a property in Tolworth.

They were collared when plain clothes officers spotted look-out Vera, 20, at a bus-stop while Rodrigues-Escobar, 21, and Cervantes, 25 carried a large silver suitcase out of the home.

All three were later deported.

❑ Surrey Comet writer Angellica Bell began the new year with a triple celebration.

The One Show presenter enjoyed not just Christmas, but also her first wedding anniversary and the birth of her son Elijah.

The Kingston resident, who met hubby Michael Underwood while both were presenting CBeebies, would later use motherhood as the inspiration for her weekly column in this newspaper, Mum's the Word.

❑ Gun-toting robbers held up staff in an error-strewn raid at PC World.

The masked gunmen made off with £38,000 in cash, but were caught when one of the hapless robbers was spotted dumping his gear in a skip and was traced through DNA samples.

Mina Bradley, her son Anthony Bradley, 22, and Michael Ward, 20, were later jailed for the robbery on January 16.

It was later revealed that Mina Bradley, a trusted employee of PC World, had masterminded the raid and persuaded her son, who also worked at the Fife Road store, to hire henchmen.

February

❑ Three Surrey Comet reporters braved the freezing cold to spend a night sleeping rough for charity.

David Lindsell, Martin George and Clare Buchanan all took part in the YMCA's annual Sleep Easy event, which challenges the public to experience some of the realities of homelessness.

The trio joined more than 100 volunteers in bedding down for a night in Kingston Memorial Gardens, top raise funds for YMCA south-west London, Kingston Churches Action on Homelessness and Faith in Action.

❑ Princess Alexandra met dozens of excited Kingston schoolchildren during a visit ahead of the Queen's Jubilee celebrations.

The princess came to St Luke's Church on the 60th anniversary of Queen Elizabeth II's ascension to the throne.

She was treated to a performance by Tiffin Boys' School choir, who sang traditional coronation hymn Zadok the Priest.

Other schools included Burlington Junior School and girls from Holy Cross, both in New Malden.

❑ A pub's history resurfaced in an article in February.

Forty years previously 18-year-old Stephen Knight visited the Toby Jug in Tolworth to see a gig by a young musician named David Bowie.

Bowie, then still a virtual unknown, picked that night to launch his alter-ego Ziggy Stardust – bringing him worldwide fame.

Roughing it: David Lindsell, Martin George and Clare Buchanan slept outdoors to raise cash for the YMCA KT64241

March

❑ Tributes flooded in for eight year old Ali Nasralla, who was killed in a road accident while riding his bike home from school.

The Robin Hood Primary School student died the day after being hit by a black cab, on March 5.

Floral tributes lined the scene of the accident, in Robin Hood Way, with one describing the youngster as "a shining star in heaven".

❑ A fly-on-the-wall documentary looking at life behind the scenes at Kingstonian FC was premiered.

Adam Tyler spent two years filming players, staff and coaches for his 30-minute film, entitled Kingsmeadow.

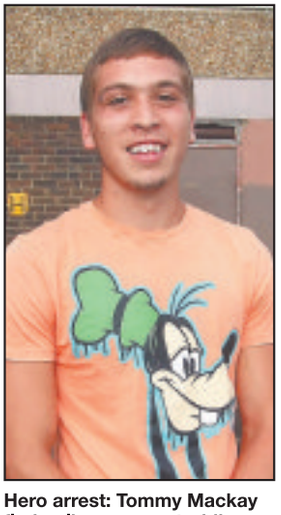

The film was broadcast by ESPN ahead of an FA Cup match watched by millions.

❑ A man hailed as a hero for saving a baby from a burning tower block was jailed after fleeing police on a super bike.

Tommy Mackay received a bravery award after climbing 15 flights of stairs and saving a child from the Madingley fire on the Cambridge Road estate in 2010.

But in March 2012, Mackay was sentenced to nine months in prison after fleeing police on a borrowed Suzuki superbike in a high-speed chase along the A3.

He was finally caught after crashing the bike into a car in New Malden and breaking his foot.

Hero arrest: Tommy Mackay fled police on a motorbike

April 2012 June

Plans: Surbiton library faces an uncertain future Deadlinepix KT66789

April

❒ Thugs who attacked a mosque were found guilty of violent disorder and racially aggravated criminal damage at Kingston Crown Court.

David Morris, 21, of Epsom, Alfie Morris, 19, Shepperton, and Martin Pottle were all convicted at Kingston Crown Court on April 3.

The three men were later jailed for a total of 30 months for joining the hooded gang which attacked the Richmond Road mosque with sticks and bottles.

❒ A restaurateur told of his shame after being sentenced to six months in prison for leaving a man paralysed following a drunken argument.

Sung Kuk Mun walked free from Kingston Crown Court having served six months in prison on remand for pushing over waiter Hun Lee outside the Imperial Karaoke Bar in Old Malden on April 17.

Speaking to the Surrey Comet Mr Mun said: "I'm just sorry. My heart breaks about it. I can only say this. I am very sorry to the victim."

❒ Ambulance bosses apologised for leaving an injured frail 85-year-old woman in the cold and rain for more than 80 minutes.

Furious witnesses who helped keep the woman – who had fallen on a kerb in North Parade, Chessington, and hurt her hip – warm and dry, criticised the slow response labelling it "disgusting". Concerned witnesses said they phoned the ambulance "eight or nine times" following the fall, which took place on April 27 in the afternoon.

May

❒ Kingston Council has been accused of "selling off the family silver" after it refused to confirm whether it planned to flog Surbiton library.

Deputy leader Liz Green, who spoke in favour of the move at a Kingston Council assets strategy meeting last week, played down the rumours, saying there were "no immediate plans" to sell the Ewell Road site.

She did, however, fail to rule out the move, admitting the site, along with others in the borough, was "under review" and that there was a "possibility" it would be sold.

❒ Parents and teachers were on red alert after a couple allegedly tried to snatch children from outside primary schools.

The three incidents, all of which were thwarted, prompted Kingston police to beef up security around schools in the borough.

However, further investigations revealed the incidents were not related.

❒ Patriotic partygoers dug into jelly and ice cream for an early jubilee celebration in a hall built from funds raised from Queen Victoria's diamond jubilee.

More than 100 congregation members and friends packed into the St John the Baptist Church hall in Old Malden for the tea party on Monday, May 7.

Formerly known as the Institute, the building was built in the late 1890s from funds raised by the community to celebrate Queen Victoria's diamond jubilee in 1897.

❒ A resident started a campaign to have the new hospital in Surbiton named after a 19th century pioneer who founded the town.

Bob Phillips, of Broomfield Road, wants the new hospital in Ewell Road named after businessman Thomas Pooley, a man who built what would become modern Surbiton.

Despite receiving widespread support, including an endorsement from the Surrey Comet's feature writer June Sampson, the plea fell on deaf ears with NHS bosses plumping for the arguably less memorable Surbiton Medical Centre.

June

❒ Detectives launched a murder investigation following the discovery of the body of a 58-year-old woman in her flat in Kingston. Margot Sheehy was found by co-workers in her ground floor home in Springfield Road, having died of asphyxia, a postmortem examination later revealed. Police issued a European arrest warrant for her son Sean Heiss less than two weeks later, who left the country following the attack, which took place on June 10.

❒ Mysterious heartfelt love letters penned by a man on national service to his pregnant wife in the post-war era were discovered by a pub landlord.

Terry Archer, 46, found the romantic mail in the coaching inn stables of the Queen's Head pub in Richmond Road, Kingston, after taking over the premises in April. The father-of-five was clearing out the back of the Grade I listed coaching inn when he came across the stash of letters from the unknown man written in 1949 in Chester.

❒ An elderly cancer sufferer accidentally crushed his wife to death when he ran over her trying to park his car. Malcolm Gittins' car ran over his Swedish-born wife Vivien when his car slipped into reverse as she tried to guide it into the garage on the evening of Friday, June 15. She was taken to St George's Hospital but died two days later.

❒ A shocking and damning Ofsted report showed major failings in child protection by Kingston Council.

It rated Kingston as "inadequate", placing it below Baby P council, Haringey.

Opposition parties called for the council's lead member for children and young people, Patricia Bamford, to step down from her post.

Coun Bamford has not resigned but Kingston's director of children's services, Duncan Clark, resigned days before the report was released and was given a £128,000 payoff for his work.

❒ A clubber who took ecstasy at a two-day dance festival died an accidental death, a coroner ruled.

Richard Baker, 20, from Chessington took the drug at Alexandra Palace on November, 26 2011.

The former Richard Challoner pupil, who was described as a "friendly giant" by his headteacher, was taken to hospital after he complained of feeling unwell at the 20,000-strong party venue.

An autopsy revealed Mr Baker died of multiple organ failure and a high concentration of MDMA – more commonly known as ecstasy – in his system.

❒ It was game on as the Olympic torch powered through the borough.

The relay was a historic moment as nearly 250,000 people rocked up to Kingston to watch it pass through on the morning of July 24.

Festival fever engulfed the borough as former Olympic rower James Cracknell, the first torchbearer, set off from the Hook Centre, Hook.

All 27 torchbearers were greeted to applauses, chants and cheers as they made their way through Hook, Surbiton and Kingston along the Olympic torch route.

August

❒ Union flags and screaming spectators made cyclists whizzing through Kingston get "goose bumps."

Olympic gold medallist Bradley Wiggins thanked the roaring crowds of Kingston that egged him on to gold glory this month.

He said: "The noise was incredible. I am never going to experience anything like that in my entire career."

Fans dubbed the roundabout Wiggo's Corner, but the debate as to whether it is actually in Richmond or Kingston continues.

Wiggins took home Olympic gold by dethroning German world champion Tony Martin and went on to win BBC Sports Personality of the Year.

❒ A passenger was nearly crushed to death beneath a train and platform as he ignored warnings trying to retrieve a mobile phone at New Malden station.

The man, believed to be in 40s, was taken to hospital after he became trapped on a live rail when the train began moving from the platform.

He was air lifted to the Royal London Hospital for surgery to a fractured leg.

Top man: Olympic cycling hero Bradley Wiggins

September

❒ Teachers criticised politicians for meddling with GCSE marking after boundaries for English grades were shifted resulting in a fall in A* to C grades for the first time.

Tolworth Girls School headteacher Siobhan Lowe described the Government's behaviour as "a shameful attempt to gerrymander results."

The case against Ofqual and exam boards Edexcel and AQA was to be taken to the Royal Courts of Justice in December.

❒ Details emerged about a Kingston detective who lied to rape and sex attack victims, faking witness statements and letting suspects off.

Detective Constable Ryan Coleman-Farrow, 30, pleaded guilty at Southwark Crown Court to 13 counts of misconduct in public office. He told senior officials rape victims had dropped their allegations while telling them their cases were being shelved.

Between 2007 to 210 he faked crime reports 32 times, falsified a witness statement, pretended he had interviewed rape suspects twice, made up suspect statements three times and told superiors he had passed files on to the Crown Prosecution Service.

His lies were revealed after a woman killed herself in a flat in Putney, but left a note saying a harassment investigation, led by Coleman-Farrow, had let her down.

He was sentenced to 16 months in prison in October.

❒ Serious failings of a maternity ward doctor and midwife may have contributed to the death of a baby twin girl at Kingston Hospital, an inquest heard.

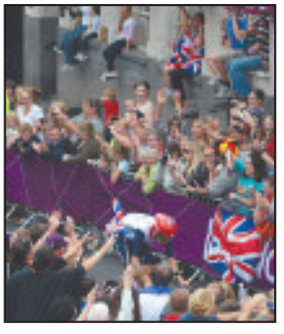

Two-day old Lucy Wood died after spending some time on life-support, having been suffocated during her delivery in June 2009.

Obstetrician Naguib Naguib admitted failing to take charge of the high-risk birth, leaving midwife Tatyana McGill alone when she lost track of Lucy's heartbeat on a monitor.

Lucy was delivered 40 minutes after her heart beat was lost and midwife Mrs McGill failed to call for help.

❒ The Government was accused of putting the Olympic legacy in jeopardy after ending funding for a sports programme that coached and organised competitive sport for thousands of pupils.

Kingston School Sports Partnership's funding will end next September although Sainsbury's will run the London Youth Games for two years.

Quick: Bradley Wiggins' time trial through Kingston

October 2012 December

October

❒ A murder inquiry was launched after 20-year-old Jamie Sanderson was stabbed to death inside Oceana nightclub.

Kingston University student Zoe Birdsall, 21, said: "The whole club was sectioned off with police tape and I saw two girls sitting on the floor crying. I knew something serious had happened."

Oceana is now fighting to stay open after its licence was revoked by Kingston Council. Four people have now been charged with murder and are set to appear at the Old Bailey in the new year.

❒ A father-of-two had a lucky escape after his motor scooter caught fire on the A3.

Barney Doorman, 32, was alerted to the danger by passing drivers and had to think fast.

He said: "Normal driving procedure went out the window because I knew every second on the bike was extremely risky. As soon as I got off it I ran for my life.

"I thought I had to get over to the side of the road to pull over — I could not just jump off, which was my first reaction when I saw the flames, because I would be run over."

❒ A supermarket manager was taken to hospital after being punched by a man who thought he was attacking customers.

In fact Jonathan Launchbury, who runs Iceland in Tolworth Broadway and is thought to be in his 50s, had challenged two shoplifters trying to escape his store.

Worker Mathew De-Gannes, 23, said: "It was a confusing situation because Jonathan was holding on to the bags trying to stop the two women stealing.

"The man thought the women were in danger and punched him to try to protect them."

Light on: The Christmas lights were switched on in Kingston in December heralding the start of the festive season

November

❒ Victims of serious fires came out in support of Kingston's fire service after it was announced cuts could be made.

London Fire Brigade prepared several options to save £65m over two years, as demanded by Mayor of London Boris Johnson.

Under one possible plan, Kingston could lose one of its two engines.

Madingley tower block resident Shirley Costa said: "They should not get rid of fire engines. We need them. If it were not for them then we would have been stuck — they deserve a medal."

Conservative London Assembly member Tony Arbour said: "The role of the Mayor is to set the budget. It is up to members to decide how to meet this."

❒ Squatters living in an old Quakers meeting hall owned by Primark were booted out.

Seven people moved in to the building in Eden Street, jeopardising Primark's plan to extend their superstore.

A spokeswoman for Kingston police said: "Four men were arrested on suspicion of handling stolen goods. Two further people were arrested on suspicion of fare evasion."

Nick, a 26-year-old squatter, said: "Squatting is better than sleeping outside. A church lets us have a shower once a week, otherwise we use baby wipes.

"We eat whatever we can get our hands on. I would rather not say how."

❒ Cinderella and Father Christmas were on hand to switch on Kingston's Christmas lights.

Thousands of people watched the colourful display come to life in Clarence Street outside the Bentall Centre.

Ros Morgan, chief executive of Kingstonfirst, said: "It was wonderful once again to see so many smiling faces in the crowd for the big switch on.

"There was a real festive atmosphere and we would like to thank everyone for attending the event, as well as everyone involved in making it happen including the countless volunteers and helpers without whom it would not have been possible."

December

❒ Christmas shopping in Kingston was disrupted when clothes were set alight in seven shops in the town centre.

The Bentall Centre was evacuated as fire trucks from Kingston, Surbiton, and Twickenham responded to the fires.

Shopper Stephen Donnelly said: "It was really annoying because this is my only day off to do my Christmas shopping. People were more curious than scared, trying to find out what happened."

❒ A man later jailed for life for the murder of his girlfriend claimed he was "not a violent person".

Asad Niazi, 29, battered to death Charito Cruz, 37, with a hammer at their rented home in Kingston in September last year.

He told an Old Bailey jury: "I had no intention to hurt her. I only wanted to fix our relationship. Out of the blue all I can remember — I do not know why I am hitting her or what I am doing."

Prosecutor John Rees said: "She cheated on you. You thought she deserved it. So you attacked her with a hammer. Now you are trying to lessen the damage by saying you lost control."

❒ A former director of children's services at Kingston Council received a £128,000 payoff, while a report lambasted his department.

Duncan Clark resigned days before the damning Ofsted report into child protection was made public. It found "serious failings...[in] child protection, particularly with regard to children and young people who had already been identified as suffering, or at risk of suffering, significant harm and who were subject to child protection plans".

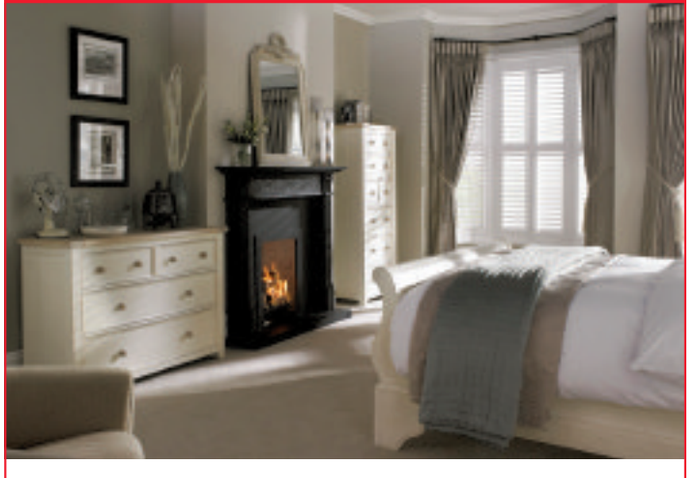

Leader of the council Derek Osbourne said: "I understand that people will look at this and be angry, but knowing what I do I can assure you, however hard it is to believe, this was the best option for the council."

Lucky escape: The man's scooter caught fire on the A3 in October

"Breakthrough Advances in Denture Technology May End Your Frustration And The Endless Embarrassment Of Ill-Fitting Dentures."

The clinic exclusively dedicated to solving your denture problems.

The Denture Clinic was founded by Dr Justin Stewart, the first bio-functional prosthetic system qualified dental surgeon in the UK. This system is an advanced denture making technique that enables the clinic to offer patients a cost effective long term solution to their denture problems. The Denture Clinic is one of only a handful of practices which dedicates its treatments to denture patients, and has Denture Technicians and a Laboratory on site. Meeting and talking with the technician making your denture is a key benefit. The team has been trained directly by Dr Stewart to be able to carry out treatment to the highest level.

Amazing Results

Many patients have confidence in their dentist treating their natural teeth but often feel that they are less capable in assisting them with their denture problems.

Revolutionary Techniques

The Denture Clinic has seen and helped with just about every conceivable denture problem that exists and has developed many new exclusive techniques to improve dentures and solve issues.

"I am so pleased with my lower denture I am returning for them to make the upper"
Miss C Johnson, Kent

In recent years the clinic has also pioneered new systems including 3D dentures, and conventional dental implants for dentures to "clip" onto. For those who are not suitable for this Mini Dental Implants can often be a solution.

The Denture Clinic receives numerous referrals from general dentists and helps solve common patient frustrations with dentures.

"Denture Wearers' 5 Most Common Frustrations"

1. My Dentures are loose which I find embarrassing.
2. My Dentures are sore and painful when I chew.
3. I have never been happy with the appearance of my teeth and I hate having photos taken.
4. I am not able to chew food properly and can't order what I want at restaurants.
5. I have been told by my dentist that my Dentures are as good as I can expect which leaves me feeling depressed.

For a free copy of our special report "9 Critical Questions you must ask before having Dentures Made", call us or download from our website. This information is valuable for all denture wearers if they are contemplating have new dentures made.

LEAP INTO 2013

INTERNATIONAL YOUTH ARTS FESTIVAL

ANTON AND ERIN

Last year was jam-packed with big events so to help you plan the year ahead we've had a look at some of the up-coming highlights of 2013.

The International Youth Arts Festival will bring thousands of young people to Kingston's streets and arts venues this year for much of July.

Hampton Court Flower Festival will bring a riot of colour to the grounds of the palace in early July, while Cliff Richard will star at the Hampton Court Palace Festival in June, with Jools Holland and Russell Watson also involved.

Paint the Town Green will highlight the environmental and eco credentials of Kingston, in March, with a series of events expected to include gardening sessions, green days and eco-films.

The May Merrie will bring the town centre to life on the Bank Holiday Monday while the Kingston Carnival will breathe a little bit of Rio and Notting Hill into the borough in September.

Theatregoers will be treated to a host of productions at the Rose Theatre this year.

The Gruffalo's Child, Smack Family Robinson, Noel Coward's The Vortex, Taming of the Shrew and Twelfth Night are all coming to Kingston in 2013.

The villagers of Seething will put tongue firmly in cheek for the day in February to celebrate Surbiton's legendary (and made-up) Goat Boy Lefi Ganderson as an excuse to have a knees-up.

The Olympics was the jewel in London's crown last year with the capital putting on a spectacular show, with the Queen's diamond jubilee also providing a cause for mass celebrations.

Sport could once again dominate the agenda in 2013 and the Wimbledon Tennis Championships will no doubt be another mouth-watering event.

Andy Murray fell at the final hurdle in 2012 against Roger Federer, but the British No 1 will hope he can claim the title and be the first British winner since Fred Perry in 1936.

The annual championships will be held between June 24 and July 7. More information can be found at wimbledon.com.

Another big date in the south London sporting calendar is the Investec Derby Festival at Epsom Downs.

The two-day event starts on Friday, May 31, and is considered one of the greatest sporting and social events of the year.

The Investec Derby Day on Saturday, June 1, is one of the biggest races in horse racing and is worth £1.25m in prize money.

Rupert Trevelyan, regional director of the London Racecourses, says: "The Investec Derby Festival is a totally unique two days of horse racing providing our customers with the very best racing as well as plenty of entertainment off the track."

For more information or to book tickets, go to epsomdowns.co.uk or call 08445 793004.

With cycling now more popular than ever before, the Mayor of London has announced a new cycling event based on the route of the Olympic cycle road race.

RideLondon 100 is a charity event involving 20,000 participants while the classic race will feature 150 top-class cyclists.

The event is on Sunday, August 4, and there will be a series of events in Putney on the day, in Upper Richmond Road.

For those who like to party, the South West Four music festival will be celebrating its 10th anniversary this year.

The pioneering electronic dance festival takes place on Clapham Common on August 24 and 25.

Acts for 2013 are due to be announced in February but past line-ups have seen the likes of Orbital, Skrillex and Public Enemy perform.

Visit southwestfour.com.

Theatregoers will be treated to a host of productions at Fairfield Halls this year.

The Hairy Bikers, Blood Brothers, Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat, Horrible Histories and Strictly Come Dancing duo Anton Du Beke and Erin Boag are all coming to Croydon in 2013.

Bringing you latest homes to buy or rent

Our website and property app has everything you need

If you are planning on making a move in 2013 – either buying or renting then a good place to start is via our website and our smartphone property app.

The homes section on our website has more than 9,000 local properties for sale or to rent from estate agents across our region.

Each month more than 30,000 property searches are made on the website. The website gives people a good insight into what a local area offers with excellent news, sport and entertainment coverage on towns across the region plus information on schools and colleges, health services, transport and levels of crime – everything you need to know if a road or street will be right for you and your family.

We are continually updating and improving the information we offer readers and recently launched our smartphone property app – allowing you the chance to check details for homes on the move.

The app has proved a hit with more than 500 downloads being made since it was launched in the autumn. Agents listing properties have had more than 2,000 searches by local people looking for their next home.

The app is:

■ Available for both iPhone and Android phones

■ Free to download – no in app charges or subscriptions required

■ Allows you to search by distance, location, price, number of bedrooms and property types

■ You can view results by list, in a map, and order by distance

■ View multiple pictures via easy swiping

■ See full, detailed property descriptions

■ Save your favourite properties

■ Push notifications of properties that match your search criteria

■ Contact agents directly from your phone

■ Click here to download the app for Android phones

■ Alternatively go to the app store and search for Your Local Guardian property app

Old boy Clayton makes Ks pay

Met Police ended Kingstonian's three-match Ryman Premier League winning streak in spectacular fashion on Boxing Day with a 4-1 win at Imber Court.

Wade Small gave Ks a 1-0 lead at the break, but it was one-way traffic for the Blues in the second half.

Former Ks midfielder Sam Clayton levelled matters, before new striker Dave Knight's double and one from Howard Newton completed the rout.

Kingstonian's trip to Margate on Saturday was postponed.

Stepping up: Georgie Twigg will captain Surbiton this weekend

Twiggs takes on the reigns

Team GB star Georgie Twigg will skipper Surbiton Ladies for the first time this weekend as the Maxifuel Super Sixes Division One indoor tournament kicks off, writes Colin Pike.

The 22-year-old London 2012 bronze medallist, who joined the club in the summer, will temporarily take the reigns with captain Sarah Haycroft unavailable for the opening weekend of the competition at Nottingham Trent University.

Haycroft's team are bidding to add promotion to the indoor Premier League this winter to match last summer's memorable promotion to the outdoor top flight.

Surbiton start their campaign on Saturday morning against Harleston Magpies – relegated from the Premier Division last season – before taking on East Grinstead later the same day.

Surbiton play Brooklands Poynton 24 hours later before facing Horsham, who beat Surbiton twice last season in Division Two South and National, on the way to joining Surbiton in Division One.

The following weekend, Surbiton meet Bristol Firebrands and Trojans on Saturday, concluding the tournament with matches against Sevenoaks and Wakefield Bradford on the Sunday.

Waterlogged

Corinthian Casuals saw last Saturday's home match against Maidstone United postponed due to a waterlogged pitch.

Boss Kim Harris's men travelled to fellow strugglers Walton Casuals on New Year's Day and go to Dulwich Hamlet tomorrow.

Bryant: Oh Lord, won't you buy me a Mercedes-Benz

Karina Bryant may be battling back from career-saving neck surgery months after securing an Olympic bronze medal at the start of the new Olympiad – but glorious comebacks are her style.

The 33-year-old former Tolworth Girls' School student is one of Team GB's greatest Olympians and finally earned a podium finish in the 78kg category at her fourth attempt at the London 2012 Games.

It was a far cry from the moment she saw her funding slashed by judo's governing body in the wake of only reaching the last 16 in Beijing.

Critics wrote her off as being past her best but a year later she was adding world and European medals to her staggering collection of honours away from the Olympics.

Bryant, who has had a new disc inserted in her neck, expects to make a return to full contact training in March and is yet to rule out a bid for a fifth Games in Brazil.

It may take another four years of financial hardship – she had to make a public appeal for cash to buy a car to get training in the build-up to London – but few would bet against her going the distance again.

"I've had 21 European and world medals. My first European title was in 1998 in the senior team – when I was still only a junior," said the four-time European champion.

"Since then, there are only two, possibly three years where I haven't had a European or world medal. What I've done in the sport has been phenomenal. I'm the most consistent judo player the country has ever had and won the most medals.

"It hasn't been as financially rewarding as other sports. That is hard, because whenever I do decide to retire I have to start the next chapter of my life from scratch. This medal will not buy a house or a car.

"Those things would have been nice along the way. It would have made things a little easier but then it wouldn't have made my journey as memorable.

"I carried on for so many years when so many people doubted me. Even after Beijing I went from getting top funding to nothing.

"People saying I'm too old, when I was saying 'I'll decide when I'm too old'. In 2009, I had a world medal and a European medal again and I've now just had the best year of my life.

"I still really enjoy the sport. I'll take it a year at a time and if I can make Rio that would be fantastic."

Four months on from her greatest moment, Bryant collected the sports personality of the year award at the Surrey Sports Awards last month.

And the Camberley Judo Club star has not tired of talking of her moment in the spotlight – she doubts she ever will.

"I've waited a long time to call myself an Olympic medallist. I've been an Olympian for 12 years, so to finally say I'm a medallist too is not boring," she said.

"Life has changed in the way I get recognised a little more. I get to do things I wouldn't have had the opportunity to do before, like going into schools and talking to kids who are just in awe of what happened in the summer.

"Has my life actually changed? I still struggle with bits and pieces, but judo is just judo really.

"It is not a really high profile sport where you're going to make a lot of money and I don't see that changing. I didn't do it for that though.

"To get these bits of recognition I am getting now is what it is all about for me."

And as for her car?

"Being here is like a dream come true," she said at the ceremony at Mercedes-Benz World in Weybridge.

"Since I was a kid I asked Father Christmas for a Mercedes.

"It was always at the top of my list, but I never got one. I got a tiny little Matchbox one once and then I got a slightly bigger one a year later

"I'm hoping as I get older I will eventually get a real one."

SPORTS*brief*

OLYMPICS: Stragglers Running Club has awarded club member Jess Draskau-Petersson, pictured above, with a commemorative art work to mark her participation in the London 2012 women's Olympic marathon. The 35-year-old, who only made the qualifying standard at the London Marathon in April, represented Denmark and finished 40th at the Games in a personal best time of two hours, 31 minutes, 43 seconds.

ATHLETICS: Stragglers runner Jim Desmond won last Saturday's Kingston parkrun, coming home in 19 minutes, nine seconds. In second place was Jamie Millbank (St Mary's University College AC), who clocked 19.21, while Kingston AC & Polytechnic Harriers star Harry Reynolds was third in 19.48. Another Harriers runner, Phoebe Law, finished the race as the first female after an explosive run saw her clock a new PB of 19.48 to finish in fourth place overall. There were 65 finishers.

FOOTBALL: The Ryman League has postponed Kingstonian's home league fixture with Enfield Town on January 21 to accommodate the club's League Cup quarter-final at either Dulwich Hamlet or Wealdstone.

ATHLETICS: Kingston & Polytechnic Harriers and Stragglers Running Club will be out in force hoping for success at the Surrey Cross Country Championships at Lloyd Park in Croydon on Saturday.

PARALYMPICS: Four-time London Paralympics gold medallist David Weir has been shortlisted for the Laureus World Sportsperson with a Disability of the Year, to be awarded in March.
